Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-20 are allowed.

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

2. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Larry Donovan on 12/07/2004.

- In the Claims,
 - Claim 16, line 5, change the first occurrence of "oscilliator" to read -- oscillator --.
 - Claim 17, line 5, delete "for the".
 - Claim 17, line 7, change "meansto" to read -- means to --.

• Claim 18, line 2, change "signals" to read -- signal --.

REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Lau et al, US Patent No 6760857, teach a bus interface that has a bus clocking signal and a means of selecting between the bus clocking signal and an internally generated clocking signal.

Dunlop et al, US Patent No 6259326, teach producing an internal clocking signal. Dunlop et al specifically points out the use of a plurality of oscillators to create the multiple clocking frequencies, rather than the use of a single clock-generating device.

Kardach et al, US Patent No 5692202, teach selecting an external or internal clocking signal based on the activity on a bus. Specifically, Kardach et al teach that the external clocking signal be used when the bus activity is high and that the internal clocking signal be used when the bus activity is low.

Nicol et al, US Patent No 6141762, teach selecting the lowest frequency necessary for a circuit to operate.

The prior art of record does not teach or suggest individually or in combination the selection of a clocking signal between a bus clocking signal and a plurality of oscillators producing various frequencies, of which the lowest frequency to make the system operable is chosen.

The prior art of mention does not provide proper motivation to combine the references.
